A GATEWAY TO HISTORY

Abingdon comes together to learn about the town's past

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

HUNDREDS of visitors enjoyed walks, talks and boat trips in Abingdon over the weekend, as part of the annual Heritage Open Days heralded a success by organisers and participants.

Each year, numerous buildings around the town open to the public, including schools, churches and various iconic Abingdon landmarks.

The weekend has been organised annually since 2007 by Alastair Fear, who organises and publicises the sites that will be opening their doors.

He said: "I think it went very well, particularly the Saturday, and we had a lot of visitors to all the properties that were open.

"We do it every year. Initially just a few houses opened up, but every time we try and do something different so it tends to grow year by year and we do more and more."

Demonstrations by the English Civil War Society were being staged in the Market Square throughout the weekend, as well as talking about Abingdon's involvement in key civil war battles.

Alistair North, of the society, said: "We were performing a couple of displays and drills, as well as teaching children to be 17th century pikemen, which went pretty well.

"Because it did go quite well, we're talking to the council about doing a larger English Civil War event in a couple of years time, that will probably involve an encampment and some displays with rather more of us."

Abingdon School was one of the venues to open for the heritage weekend, as it staged exhibitions about the school's history from the past 450 years.

Sarah Wearne, archivist at the school, said: "The library was open on Saturday, and there wasn't any time when there wasn't anybody in there.

"We've done it before for at least 10 years now, and I think people really like looking in places they can't normally get into."

Our Lady's Abingdon staged a food festival on Saturday, and also opened their chapel to the public for the first ever time.

Amy Crosweller from the school said: "It's the first event of its kind we've ever run at the school, so it was a bit of unknown territory, but we're really pleased and had good feedback about it."

Cracking down on drunk criminals

THAMES Valley Police is to run a number of initiatives highlighting the realities of dealing with drunkenness and alcohol-related incidents as part of a nationwide campaign.

A number of operations will be carried out to support the Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO) In Focus: Alcohol Harm week, including fake ID operations, test purchasing and licensing inspections.

Neighbourhood policing teams, officers and special constables will be patrolling known drinking hotspots, and issuing dispersal and exclusion orders to those behaving anti-socially.

"The harm that alcohol can have on our communities and the impact it has on policing is not always recognised," said chief inspector Colleen Lavery.

"We will be carrying out a number of operations this week to get the message across that alcohol, when not used responsibly, can cause damage to communities and be a real drain on police resources.

"Our officers often have to care for people who have clearly failed to take care of themselves.

"Drinking so much that you can't think clearly makes you vulnerable and more likely to become a victim of crime, be injured or be involved in violence."

As part of the campaign, the Force will also be running a Tweetathon from 4pm on Friday until 4am on Saturday.

This will provide details of some of the calls the control room is receiving, and details of work officers are carrying out as they patrol the region.

Ch Insp Lavery added: "By live tweeting for 12 hours examples of the types of calls we receive on a typical Friday night as a result of excessive alcohol consumption, we hope it will make people think about their own personal responsibility to themselves.

"The night-time economy is obviously an important part of policing our towns and cities, but we are not there to take people home or mediate drunken arguments.

"We'd prefer our officers to be in their communities rather than being pulled off their beats into town centres every weekend."

Everything's coming up roses for 'In Bloom' winners

ROSE Hill Primary School was among the big winners at this year's Oxford in Bloom competition as the county's gardeners and communities showed off their green-fingered talents once more.

Celebrating its 27th year, the Oxford in Bloom competition shared the successes of all the entrants' hard work at a special presentation evening at Oxford Town Hall last Thursday evening.

Local TV and radio presenter Wesley Smith hosted the evening while the Lord Mayor of Oxford, Cllr Dee Sinclair, presented the certificates, prizes and trophies.

Children and staff from Rose Hill Primary School collected their trophy for the Junior Oxford in Bloom, schools and community category, while the winner of the individual Junior Oxford in Bloom was Emily Graves.

Chris Perks from Wood Farm was revelling in another double victory, claiming the top prize in not just the Best Kept Small Garden category, but also the Most Beautiful Container category.

Meanwhile, Richard and Sue Milner, from Marston, collected the trophy for the Best Kept Large Garden.

The Oxford in Bloom competition has been running since 1986 and welcomes entries from anyone within the city boundary.

Plans to be set for new leisure hub

PROPOSALS for a new leisure facility in Didcot are set to be unveiled to the public early next year.

This news comes as a new team of designers has been appointed by South Oxfordshire District Council (SODC) to lead the project.

LA Architects will be a multi-disciplinary design consultant, Faithful and Gould, a cost consultant, and Sweett Group have been appointed as construction design and management co-ordinator.

Cllr Bill Service, cabinet member for Leisure at SODC, said: "We've assembled a design team who have many years experience and have worked on some of the most recognised buildings this country has to offer.

"This is a very exciting project to be involved with and I am really looking forward to seeing the ideas develop over the coming months."

Mike Lawless of LA Architects added: "This is an exciting and special opportunity to work with the council and people of the district to create one of the finest sports and leisure buildings in the country."

As reported previously in the Guardian, the leisure facility will be located in a proposed 2,030 home neighbourhood on land north east of Didcot.

The project was given the go ahead by SODC in April last year and construction is expected to begin in 2015.

Mayor to cut cake as a Wallingford market celebrates six of the best

WALLINGFORD'S Local Producers' Market is celebrating its sixth birthday this weekend.

Councillor Bernard Stone, the town's mayor, will be on hand to cut a specially-made birthday cake at the market on Saturday.

He will be joining stallholders, growers, producers and craft makers.

The market is held in the Regal Centre and was started as a means to reach the local community.

"This market brings people into Wallingford," said Cllr Stone, "which is good for the vibrancy of the centre of the town and it supports local producers.

"It is the very essence of a market town."

Cllr Stone, who calls in frequently to the market which is held every Saturday, added: "Everything on display and for sale is locally produced so people are supporting the local economy and at the same time getting excellent products at reasonable prices."

The wide variety of produce available from the market ranges from meat, fruit and vegetables, plants, bread, cheeses, wines, beers, cakes, chocolate, jams, crafts, knitting, jewellery, cosmetics, pottery, photography and paintings.

Hotel plans are back in business after dispute

FORTY jobs are set to be created in Abingdon in November, with the re-opening of a hotel in the town centre.

Renovations of The Crown and Thistle, on Bridge Street, are set to be completed in the coming weeks, and hotel owners Oakman Inns are recruiting 40 new members of staff to join the existing team.

It comes following concerns that Oakman were on the verge of pulling out of the project altogether back in July, after a disagreement with Abingdon Town Council over the lease to an access road to the hotel car park.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

However negotiations between the two have since progressed, and Cllr Iain Littlejohn of the town council said: "It is really encouraging to see Oakman Inns' investment plans for The Crown and Thistle progressing so well.

"The additional new jobs being created are very welcome, both from an employment perspective and in terms of bringing more people into the town centre.

"It's nice to see a number of good quality businesses clustering on Bridge Street, which is such an important area for the local economy as it links the town's twin centres – the riverside and the market place."

The Crown and Thistle closed for refurbishment earlier this year, and is due to re-open in mid-November with 19 bedrooms and an 80-seat restaurant.

General manager of the hotel, Cian McMonagle, said: "We are lucky to have the foundation of a good team in place already and are starting our search for the rest of the team.

"Some of the biggest TV chefs and celebrity foodies have worked as waiters, trainee chefs, bar staff or kitchen porters, and the reason for their success is that they were taught well and were passionate about what they did."

Anyone interested in applying for a job at The Crown and Thistle can send their CVs to recruitment@oakmaninns.co.uk, or attend the recruitment day in the Council Chamber at Abingdon Guildhall on Tuesday, from 9.30am to 7pm.

Challenges for young scientists

SCHOOLCHILDREN across the county are being encouraged to become the next generation of scientists and engineers.

Over 200 primary schools in Oxfordshire are being invited to take part in a science competition to help tackle the shortage of science, technology, engineering and maths skills in the UK.

The Engineering Explorers Competition, a joint initiative between education support services business Babcock and Science Oxford, is aiming to encourage children to pursue a career in science and enterprise.

As part of the competition, children will need to work in teams and think like engineers to design and build their own working model of a crane.

Bridget Holligan, head of learning at Science Oxford, said: "Pupils make decisions early in their lives about what they feel they are good at and what types of things they might do in the future.

"This competition will enable more pupils to understand what engineering really is."

To get involved, schools need to register on the Science Oxford website to win a 'construction challenge'.

Science Oxford will then visit the first 16 schools who register to run the challenge.

Police set to give thugs the red card

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Twenty-six people were charged after trouble at the Kassam Stadium at Oxford's match against Bristol Rovers in February and (inset) Oxford's local area commander Superintendent Christian Bunt

THAMES Valley Police is sending out a very clear message this week - football related disorder in Oxford will not be tolerated.

This comes as six men were found not guilty of public order disturbances after the violent scenes at Oxford United's match against Bristol Rovers on February 9.

However, they were warned by an Oxford Crown Court judge that their behaviour was totally unacceptable.

In reaction to the incident at the Kassam Stadium earlier this year where 48 people were subsequently arrested, police launched Operation Boots with 26 out of the 32 people charged found guilty.

Oxford's local policing area commander, Supt Christian Bunt, said that a "strong and positive stance" will be taken on football related disorder.

"We are working even closely with the club who are very supportive of that stance," Supt Bunt said.

"We have already had more officers at games just to make sure we have a presence but it depends on the games and we will have additional resources introduced to football this season."

Supt Bunt confirmed the next high profile policed game will be United's Johnstone's Paint Trophy second round tie at home to Portsmouth next month.

He continued: "The Bristol disorder was highly unusual even by national standards.

"There are not many games where a post match investigation would arrest 48 people and that is a significant amount.

"It was an indication that there is clearly a hooligan element that follows Oxford United Football Club.

"Our job is to work with the club to make sure that is not the case.

"I do not want it to become a problem where people think they can have a fight and a scrap at the weekend. It is just not acceptable."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Josh Florey feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and Josh is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truthis that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Josh a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

App set to boost safety of students

A NEW mobile phone app, designed to ensure the safety of students in Oxford, is set to be put to the test throughout the next eight to nine months.

Thames Valley Police, alongside Oxford Brookes University, have developed an app which includes information such as bus timetables, crime prevention advice and a section where they can put in contact details for their halls or house of occupancy.

The app will generally be for language students who study in Oxford during the summer months but will be tested first on the thousands of young people who start their courses next month.

Dave Hession, crime reduction advisor for Thames Valley Police, said: "There is nothing like it in the forces.

"The closest we have got to it is Oxford University.

"They have an app but it is not for language school students."

Supt Christian Bunt, local area commander for Oxford, added: "Social media is the main method of getting crime prevention advise to young people.

"It enables us to get messages out very quickly to a large number of people."

New headache centre opens in Headington

A SENIOR neurologist hopes a new headache clinic opened in Oxford will help reach out to more people suffering with migraines.

The Oxford Headache Centre, which combines Oxford University researchers and Oxford University Hospitals trust, was launched on Thursday.

And Dr Paul Davies, clinical neurologist at the John Radcliffe Hospital, feels the new treatments and facilities available at the centre will combat a wider range of people suffering with migraines.

"For the chronic migraine sufferer, by definition, they have headaches most of the time," said Dr Davies.

"For eight days of the month or more they suffer from migraines, and the World Health Organisation considers a day with a migraine as disabling as being quadriplegic – so these are very disabled people.

"There are many different types of headache and treatments to go with them.

"At the Oxford Headache Centre, we can deal with all sorts of headache, and have nearly the full range of treatments to offer.

By James Booker
jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"And with increases in staffing we can offer the treatment to more people than we used to be able to."

The open day at the centre, which is at the Churchill Hospital, Headington campus, showcased a series of lectures from clinicians and Oxford scientists.

Migraine sufferer Linda Irving-Bell, 64, said she hoped the centre would provide added support for people with severe migraines.

"The fact there will be somewhere dedicated to help – even if not a lot can be done, will be good," she said.

"There will be people there who can say 'we can ease it', even if they cannot totally cure it – having people who understand it in a more dedicated way will probably help people."

Linda lives in Bladon, having moved to Oxford in 1990 as a mature student. She has suffered with chronic migraines since the age of 15, and gets them approximately 20 days out of the month.

A Blenheim reward for recycler Alison

AN OXFORDSHIRE resident has been rewarded for her dedication to recycling with an annual pass to Blenheim Palace.

Alison Gates, from Oxford, has won an annual family pass to the stately home in Woodstock as part of Oxfordshire Waste Partnership's recycling pledge promotion.

Residents across the county were asked to pledge to recycle one more thing, or as much as possible, to help improve Oxfordshire's recycling rate of 60 per cent.

Mrs Gates said: "I'm delighted to have won the prize.

"I try to recycle as much as possible but this has made me think about what I am putting in my bins even more."

Oxfordshire Waste Partnership Cllr John Tanner presented Mrs Gates with her prize and he added: "We have been thrilled by the public response to the pledge competition.

"Oxfordshire residents are excellent recyclers but we want to encourage people to find that extra item to recycle; whether it's food waste or worn out electrical items."

All councils across the county collect a wide range of materials for recycling with batteries, beverage cartons and aerosols becoming the most recent additions.

Fraudster ordered to pay back £13k

A FORMER bank employee who defrauded his employers out of more than £32,000 has been ordered to pay back £13,000 of the cash.

Jonathon Woodward, 23, of Windrush Valley Road in Witney, was ordered to pay back £13,370.45 within two months as a result of a confiscation hearing held at Oxford Crown Court on Thursday.

This was in addition to an 18 months suspended prison sentence and 250 hours of unpaid community work imposed by the court on Woodward back in June.

It relates to when Woodward was working at the Halifax branch in Witney during 2012, where he carried out a number of fraudulent transactions on customers' accounts.

The accounts were subsequently reimbursed by the bank, and Woodward was dismissed by the bank following a disciplinary meeting in December.

Phillip Croxson, financial investigator for Thames Valley Police, said: "This case shows that anyone convicted of acquisitive crime will be pursued for their assets, to ensure that crime does not pay.

"It is an important part of this process that victims of crime are recompensed, as far as possible, through the actions of the court."

SPANDAU Ballet frontman Tony Hadley was in the county on Friday night, as he attended Thame Youth Memorial's eighties-themed party at The Spread Eagle Hotel.

This is the second '80s night of the year following a similar event in February, with partygoers dressing up in spectacular costumes as iconic figures from the decade.

Characters included He-Man, Adam Ant and the Honey Monster, with Tony leading the panel of judges to decide the winner.

Over £2,300 was raised on the night for the youth memorial through ticket sales, a prize draw and silent auction, a big improvement to add to the £1,400 raised at the previous party night.

Peter Butt, chairman of the Thame Youth Memorial Trust, said: "We are delighted that so many people enjoyed our latest eighties night, and that we were able to build on the success of the first event.

"We would like to thank everyone for coming and to all the local businesses who have supported us and donated prizes.

"Special thanks must also go to Tony and Ali Hadley, who made the evening extra special."

The Thame Youth Memorial is a local charity that provides a place of reflection for people in the area who are affected by the loss of a young person.

It seeks to create a greater understanding of the emotional and physical needs of those affected by the premature loss of a loved one.

An area of public space in the centre of Thame was dedicated to the charity in 2010 to become the Thame Youth Memorial Garden, which will be officially opened by town Mayor Peter Lambert on September 29.

The charity has set itself a target for the year of completing the garden with the installation of a permanent memorial sculpture.

A quiz night is also being held to raise funds for the trust tomorrow evening starting at 7.30pm at Barley Hill School.

The Oxfordshire Restaurant Awards take place on October 1 at The Manor Hotel in Weston-on-the-Green.

Discounts

STUDENTS in the city who shop at the Co-operative can get a 10 per cent discount on their groceries.

As of next Monday students with an NUS card are entitled to the discount.

Mark Wilson, group general manager of Food Retail at The Midcounties Co-operative, said: "We wanted to help students, many of whom are living away from home for the first time."

Op Bullfinch

A 28-YEAR-OLD man from Wood Farm has been charged with two counts of perverting the course of justice, as part of Operation Bullfinch.

Zeeshan Ahmed, of Palmer Road, was charged last Thursday, relating to the intimidation of two girls prior to the recent trial.

He will appear at Oxford Magistrates Court on September 30.

Donors honoured for selfless efforts

SEVEN dedicated blood donors from across the county were awarded for their selfless efforts at a special ceremony in Oxford.

Joined by fellow donors from Berkshire, Middlesex, Buckinghamshire, Wiltshire and Gloucestershire, they were recognised by NHS Blood and Transplant for their loyalty and commitment at the ceremony on September 3.

Robert Long, who lives in Cowley and Kathryn Helsby of Oxford, along with Stephen Badger (Abingdon) and Anne Morrison (Witney) were rewarded after making 100 donations.

And Terence Wallace of Harwell, Phyllis Jane Burgess (Kidlington), and Claire Tarrant (Chipping Norton), have all made 75.

In total 51 blood donors were honoured at the ceremony, - who potentially improve the lives of up to 12,675 patients between them.

One of those to benefit was guest speaker Marie Collinson-Wallace, who spoke of her first-hand experience of the need for blood with her daughter Olivia, a cancer survivor.

Olivia received a total of 28 units of platelets and 39 units of red blood cells during her four year treatment for leukaemia.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"All of these donors are just priceless," Marie said.

"So many donors tell me that it brings it home to them what a difference it makes to see people like Olivia stood before them being able to think about her aspirations and what she wants to achieve.

"This is thanks to the consultants, the hospital and the blood donors.

"That is all the proof that donors need that their dedication was worth it.

"It is such a wonderful way to reflect.

"What they achieve is no mean feat, it's dedication and generosity that makes that difference."

Dominic Sutherland, lead donor relations manager for NHS Blood and Transplant, added: "We are proud to reward these incredible people, these silent heroes, who have rolled up their sleeves so many times over the years to help save lives.

"Becoming a regular blood donor takes commitment and shows compassion."

Anyone wanting to donate for the first time should be aged between 17-65, weighing at least 50 kg (7 stone 12lbs) and in general good health.

To book an appointment call the Donor Line on 0300 123 23 23 or visit www.blood.co.uk.

Thousands go through Oxon Open Doors

ORGANISERS of this year's Oxford Open Doors have hailed the weekend as the best yet.

Thousands of people flocked to Oxford and explored the hidden histories of the city in the Town Hall and Christ Church, to name a few.

Oxford Preservation Trust run and organise the event and a statement read: "We are delighted that all our hard work paid off, with so many places and events taking part, all overseen by the smiling band of volunteers who helped the visitors and spread the word about the Trust's work."

Tours at Christ Church, Magdalen College and All Souls proved to be unsurprisingly popular while families enjoyed the fire engines, policemen, soldiers and old cars at the Castle.

Debbie Dance, Oxford Preservation Trust director, said: "Oxford is a great place, we get so much support from so many people and places.

"This year those 'extras' with organ recitals, concerts, brass bands and bell ringing, cream teas and so much more made the whole weekend really special.

"We could not put this on without all our partners, but single out the support of the University of Oxford without whom this could not happen."

Police appeal

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a man was robbed along Middle Way, Summertown, in the early hours of September 15.

At 4.30am a 22-year-old man was approached by two men and one of the offenders, who had a brick in his hand, told the victim to hand over his iPhone 5.

The victim fell as he tried to get away and the second offender produced a knife and threatened him again asking for the phone.

The offenders were both white men, under 6ft tall, with a thin build.

They were around 18 to 20-years-old, unshaven with stubble, both with short dark hair and one of the offenders was wearing a dark jacket.

Van robbery

A RADLEY handbag and purse, a black iPhone and a pair of sunglasses were stolen from a green VW Campervan in Headington on September 15.

The campervan was in the public car park at Shotover Country Park, Old Road, and offenders smashed the front window and stole the items between 11am and 11.30am.

If you have any information, contact PCSO Christopher Kidd on 101.

Front counter stay for town's police

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

AN ARRANGEMENT has been reached in Chipping Norton to retain a police front counter service in the town.

Thames Valley Police had announced that Chipping Norton police station would be replaced with a more efficient building.

But an agreement with West Oxfordshire District Council (WODC) has ensured officers will still have a presence in the town.

The District Council's Guildhall reception on Goddards Lane will now double up as a one-stop shop for police and council services.

Closing and replacing inefficient police stations is part of the police's asset management strategy that is set to save the force £829,000.

Cllr Mark Booty, cabinet member for Community Safety at WODC, said: "We fully understand the financial challenges faced by the police, but we are keen to maintain the valuable front counter police services for Chipping Norton residents.

"This partnership approach at the Guildhall is a win-win solution for everyone."

• Cllr Mark Booty with Supt Colin Paine at the Guildhall in Chipping Norton

The agreement will also see the police front counter open for longer.

Supt Colin Paine, commander for West Oxfordshire and Cherwell, added: "This is great news for residents of Chipping Norton. They will keep the police front counter and it will be open an extra 15 hours per week, but will not cost the tax payer any more than at present.

"The service will be in a good central location and offer the opportunity for residents to access council services at the same time."

The existing Chipping Norton police station will be sold and replaced with a smaller, more efficient building in the near future.

Supt Paine continued: "We have not yet determined where that will be and are still exploring the options available."

MP's Column

Andrew Smith
MP for Oxford East

'We owe it to the victims'

IN THE aftermath of the awful crimes uncovered in Oxford as part of Operation Bullfinch, we were all shocked by the horror of the abuse that went on and how it could have gone on for so long without being detected.

I recently made a speech in parliament where I voiced the concern that it is vital that lessons are learnt and that everyone does the utmost to ensure that every child is safe in the future.

The victims were not only the target of abuse but were also badly let down by those whose responsibility it was to protect them. We owe it to the victims and their families to provide an explanation of what went wrong and why this was allowed to go on.

As well as internal enquiries being undertaken by Oxfordshire County Council and the police, there is a Serious Case Review under way that will aim to get to the bottom of how children in care were left so vulnerable. I will look very carefully at the outcomes of the case review and internal enquiries to make sure that this happens and whether there is a need for a public enquiry.

There is a question as to whether laws and guidance on safeguarding children needs to change to ensure the balance between the rights of the child and the duty of parents or guardians to safeguard the child is right.

There is already some excellent work being done in Oxford as a result of Operation Bullfinch. There is now a joint unit operating in Oxfordshire - the Kingfisher Centre, a specialist unit that investigates and prevents child sexual exploitation. A programme is also under way in schools across the county to alert children to the dangers of grooming.

Such initiatives are also needed across the country, because sadly it is becoming evident that grooming and abuse is more widespread than previously realised. There is also the argument for a more general public inquiry into how we safeguard children nationally.

Village halls set to get council funding boost

OXFORDSHIRE County Council has awarded funding to 11 village halls and community buildings across the county, to be used in a variety of projects to help with their refurbishment.

Almost £60,000 will be shared between the applicants, to be used on kitchen renovations, wall re-building and replacing fire doors.

Sites were given between £1,385 and £9,000 to make the improvements to the well-used buildings.

Cllr Lorraine Lindsay-Gale, cabinet member for cultural and community services, said: "Village halls and similar buildings are used by a variety of people in a number of different ways, and it's clear that they are highly valued by local communities.

"There are a number of refurbishment projects going on in the county on these buildings, and I know that the money that has been granted will be well-used by those involved in these schemes."

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The council's grant scheme for improving village halls and community buildings is administered by the Oxfordshire Rural Community Council.

Grants are usually made available to cover up to 35 per cent of total project costs, normally up to a maximum limit of £10,000.

With schemes that provide access or facilities for people with disabilities, the council can choose to cover to increase the cost share to 50 per cent.

Kirtlington Village Hall: £9,000 to refurbish toilets and improve electrics

Chilton Village Hall: £9,000 towards toilet and kitchen improvements

Ascott-under-Wychwood Hall: £6,000 for kitchen refurbishment

Drayton Village Hall: £5,000 for kitchen refurbishment

Finmere Village Hall: £5,000 for the redesign and refurbishment of the toilet area

Hook Norton Village Hall: £3,794 towards an internal wall re-enforcement project

Witney nursery goes to the top of the class

A WITNEY nursery has jumped two Ofsted grades since it's last inspection, after investment into the site and its colleagues was made to improve standards.

Madley Park day nursery, operated by Co-operative Childcare, has been rewarded with a 'good' rating following a refurbishment of the classrooms and garden.

Nursery manager Gareth Jones said: "When we took over the setting last year, we were aware it lacked investment so we have devoted a significant amount of time, money and resource into improving the nursery.

"Parent surveys have indicated a significant increase in satisfaction and we are also taking account of the children's views through discussion.

"Moving forward, we have ongoing plans for further development which include improving the qualifications for our colleagues."

The Ofsted inspection was carried out in August, with the report being published last Thursday.

In the report, Ofsted said that staff support children well in their learning, adding there was a "busy buzz around the nursery" as well as making sustained, ongoing improvement.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A previous inspection in October last year, when the centre was known as the Petit Enfant Day Nursery, had said the provision was 'inadequate'.

It cited frequent staff changes meant children couldn't develop settled relationships with care workers as well as activities not suiting children's needs, but these issues have now been rectified.

Gareth added: "The whole team has worked hard over the past year to fulfil Ofsted's recommendations and we are pleased to say that the nursery has improved by two Ofsted grades following their latest inspection.

"A 'good' rating means that Madley Park nursery is effective in delivering provision which meets the needs of all children well, ensuring they are ready for their next stage of learning."

Madley Park is the fourth Co-operative Childcare branch to open in Oxfordshire to achieve the 'good' rating, and cares for approximately 100 children throughout the year.

Youngsters relish activity day

THIRTEEN budding canoeists got the chance to go out for a paddle as part of an activity day, organised by the Bicester and Kidlington Early Intervention Hub.

Canoeists aged nine to 18 were taught how to get out on the water and paddle at full speed from their starting point at the Riverside activities centre, operated by Oxfordshire County Council.

It was made possible by a £1,000 donation from Sanctuary Housing's Grand Ideas Fund, which offers funds to groups that need financial support to groups that help the local community.

Richard Savage, from the early intervention hub, said: "We equip young people with adequate life skills and promote healthy living and physical activities.

"We are very grateful for the donation from Sanctuary to fund the activity day, which has boosted the young people's self-esteem and hopefully encouraging their participation in future opportunities."

Sanctuary's housing officer, Kok-fai Lo, who volunteered to staff the team day, said: "It was a lovely day for all involved.

"The young people were truly engaged in their activities, and they came away buzzing.

‘I’ve probably worked harder on this show than any other’

POPULAR Manchester comedian Jason Manford returns to Oxford’s New Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, with his brand new show First World Problems.

Promising a hilarious succession of anecdotes, comic misunderstandings and audience banter, the new show picks up where Jason left off with his previous tour ‘Off On Tour We Go’ in 2011.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

He has been away from the stand-up scene in recent years, appearing on and winning the ITV opera show Born to Shine, but says he is now returning to what he does best.

Jason said: “The show’s not about anything really. I called it First World Problems but that’s as much thought as I put into it.

“It’s just stand-up. There’s no narrative, you don’t come out at the end having learnt anything. It’s just a couple of hours of laughing really.”

The former One Show host hadn’t turned his back on comedy entirely in recent times, making appearances on QI, Big Fat Quiz of the Year and Comedy World Cup.

“The tour’s been getting really good feedback,” Jason added. “I’ve probably worked harder at this show than any other, to be honest, as I’ve literally had to sit down and write it.

“The travelling is the hardest part, but you learn to make the best of it. Staying in towns you don’t really know, away from the kids, stuff like that.”

Despite a return to his roots with stand-up, Jason hasn’t turned his back on opera and musical theatre.

He said: “I’d love to do another musical at some point, but right now we’ve got another 10 months of touring so we’re not really thinking about it.

“I’m looking forward to doing the tour, then maybe a little holiday, take a few months off, spend some time with the kids and we’ll see what happens.”

Both shows start at 8pm, with tickets starting from £27.40. Visit www.newtheatreoxford.org.uk.

Oxford's choirs sing along as part of the Fringe favourite

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

FIVE Oxford choirs will form the soundtrack for David Greig's award-winning new play The Events, being performed at the North Wall Arts Centre from Tuesday.

It was the undisputed hit of this year's Edinburgh Fringe, winning the prestigious Carol Tambor Award for the best theatre production at the festival.

Tuesday's performance features Mizike and The Jericho Singers, Wednesday has The Blackbird Leys Choir, while the final show on Thursday is sung by the Sea Green Singers and Sounds Fun.

Trevor Davies, musical director for the Blackbird Leys choir, said: "We're singing a programme of six or seven songs, which form part of the story.

"The organisers put out a general request to all the choirs in Oxford and I thought the idea's got legs, and a reasonable number of the choir are free that night for the performance so we're going to do it.

"The last big thing we did was the community musical performance of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolour Dreamcoat in February, which was a huge boost to the choir and very well received.

"That was funded by some community groups, in particular the Church of the Holy Family, and the diocese has now provided us with funds to do a show at Christmas called Rock Nativity."

Music for The Events was written by Irish composer John Browne, with the show itself being a tale of tragedy, obsession and a destructive desire to work out the unfathomable.

North Wall artistic director Lucy Maycock said: "I am a huge fan of David Greig's work; he is one of my favourite dramatists.

"He writes on such a wide range of themes, and his plays are always brilliantly conceived and theatrically satisfying – a key factor in programming work for The North Wall."

The three shows start at 8pm. For more information, go to www.thenorthwall.com.

• Choirs across the country have been featured in The Events

James Bell

JAMES Bell is celebrating the launch of his new album 'Joy and Jealousy' at The Old Fire Station on Saturday, accompanied by a mix of musicians to perform songs from it.

The new album is described as not being exactly like folk music, but a mix of trashy broadside songsheets, sentimental love songs and dark true-story murder ballads.

Tickets cost £9 for the show, which runs from 8pm to 11pm. For more details, visit www.oldfirestation.org.uk or call 01865 263980.

It's a Hallmark of Harmony!

KING'S Sutton Parish Church is to host the Sheffield-based barbershop chorus Hallmark of Harmony', who picked up a silver medal at the UK National Barbershop Convention in May this year.

They will be joined by Banbury's 5ways chorus, promising plenty of fun, laughter and fantastic singing.

The show starts at 7pm on Saturday at the church, with tickets costing £8. Under 12's go free.

Illusionists

WIN Silverstone BTCC Tickets

Closing date

Tuesday, Sep 23

THE Dunlop MSA British Touring Car Championship heads to Silverstone on 27 - 29 September for the penultimate round of 2013 as the season edges closer to its climax.

With five drivers still in contention for the title, the on track action will be tougher than ever as Pirtek Racing's Andrew Jordan, currently at the top of the championship standings, battles for his first BTCC crown against seasoned champions Gordon Shedden, Matt Neal (both Honda Yuasa Racing), Jason Plato (MG KX Momentum Racing) and Colin Turkington (eBay Motors).

Silverstone's high-speed 1.640-mile National Circuit will not only see three action-packed British Touring Car Championship races on the Sunday of the event, motor sport fans will enjoy a host of other on track action throughout the weekend, including support races from the Porsche GT3 Cup, Protyre Formula Renault Championship, Dunlop MSA Formula Ford Championship of Great Britain, Michelin Ginetta GT Supercup and Ginetta Junior Championship.

To top it off, there will be plenty of opportunities for fans to mix with their favourite drivers and teams, with free and open access to the BTCC paddock. Grandstand access is available at no extra cost for all ticket holders and parking at the venue is free, making this a great value weekend. Younger motor sport fans can also enjoy all of the action with Silverstone's kids go free policy*.

The weekend's entertainment isn't just happening on track, either. Monster Energy's Gymkhana GRID, created by American rallying legend Ken Block, will be taking place in one of Silverstone's main car park areas at the entrance to the venue on Saturday and Sunday. Pitching the UK's best budding drift drivers against each other in head to head battles, there is plenty at stake as the winners from the Silverstone competition will be whisked off for the ultimate challenge against the Gymkhana GRID creator himself Ken Block (AWD class) and drift master Vaughn Gittin Jr. (RWD class). The Monster rig will also feature drift demos from the Monster Energy Team drivers and appearances from the Monster girls.

Tickets for the 2013 Dunlop MSA British Touring Car Championship at Silverstone are available at advance prices until 12 noon on Thursday 26 September via www.silverstone.co.uk or 0844 3728 260. After this time they will be available at 'on the gate' prices. Children aged 15 years and under go free*.

WIN TICKETS

We have a pair of roving grandstand tickets for this classic event and to be in with a chance of winning one all you have to do is answer this simple question:

Q: Which rallying legend created Monster Energy's Gymkhana GRID?

SILVERSTONE

 Free child tickets are for children aged 15 years and under at the time of the Event. Children using a child ticket must be accompanied by a full paying adult. Each full paying adult may bring up to a maximum of four children.*

Stylish, funky and practical

REVIEW: RENAULT CAPTUR

By Philip Shoulder

@writeonmotoring

SHARING its underpinnings with the New Clio, the Captur is the latest addition to the booming small crossover class.

Along with compact dimensions and raised ground clearance, the French marque's chic new entrant is dynamically styled and features a two-tone colour scheme as standard. Captur is reassuringly safe, too, having been awarded a five-star Euro NCAP crash rating.

Four trim levels are offered, and high levels of customisation are also available throughout the range. All models get 16" alloy wheels, 60/40 split and sliding rear seat bench, body coloured bumpers, cruise control, electronic stability control, front and rear electric windows, Hill Start Assist, speed limiter and trip computer.

The Captur engine line up consists of the 0.9-litre TCe 90 and new 1.2 TCe 120 petrol motors and 1.5 dCi 90 diesel. Although not quick – taking 12.3 seconds to get to 62mph – this 1.5 dCi 90 (89bhp) does enable Captur to achieve an impressive combined 76.4 mpg and low 95g/km of CO_2.

Despite its elevated height, Captur handles well, with minimal roll and good levels of grip. The steering has a pleasant well-weighted feel, although the ride isn't quite as composed as a Clio. Refinement levels are generally good - engine noise is well suppressed - with road and wind noise only becoming intrusive at higher motorway speeds.

The Captur's cabin has a functional, yet funky feel, and a high up-right driving position, which is comfortable and affords good visibility. Up front there are generous amounts of head and legroom and the seats are supportive.

Drivers will find controls fall conveniently to hand on the simple and concise dashboard.

There's plenty of room for rear passengers, while the 455 litre boot has an under-floor section for hiding valuables out of view. In keeping with the rugged lifestyle theme, the boot floor is reversible, with one side coated with rubber – perfect for muddy shoes or other messy items.

VERDICT

Renault's new small crossover entrant aims to combine the best of SUV, MPV and hatchback… and succeeds. Some poor interior plastics and a fidgety low-speed ride are the only gripes to an otherwise top-notch package.

Captur is stylish, practical and decent to drive: and although not matching the performance of Nissan's Juke, you'll enjoy appreciably better economy.

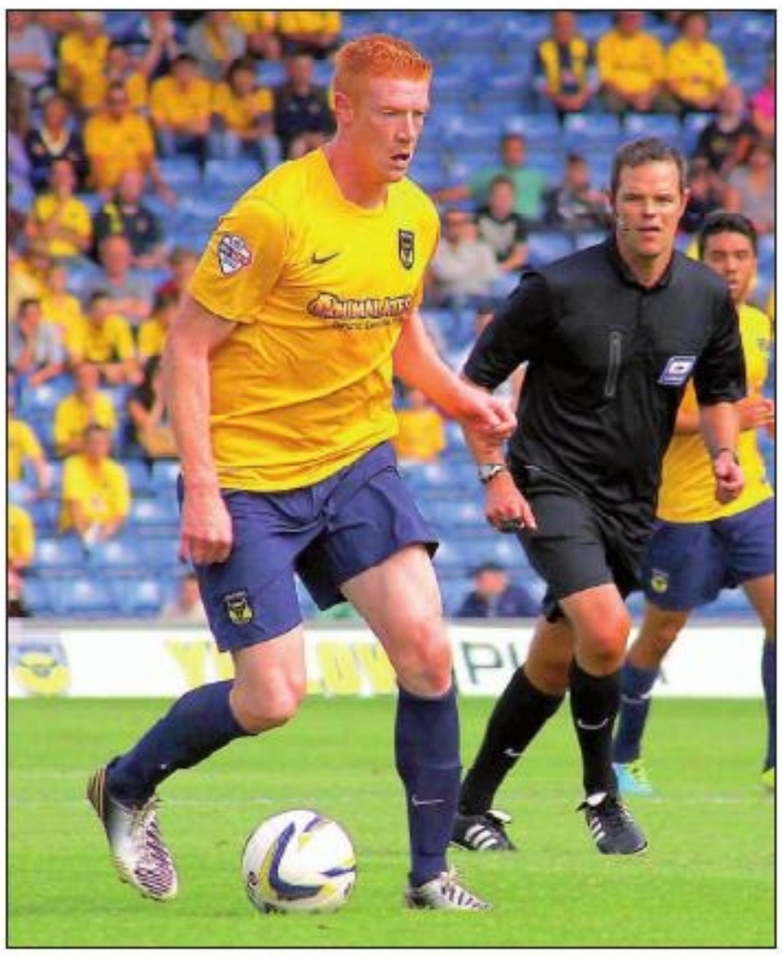
Kitson impresses as U's extend unbeaten streak



CHRIS Wilder was full of praise for Dave Kitson as the veteran striker opened his account against Cheltenham Town last weekend.

The 33-year-old put in a workmanlike performance as United remained unbeaten with a battling 2-2 draw at Whaddon Road.

United remain second in League Two but are now four points behind leaders Chesterfield who face Wilder's men at the Kassam Stadium on Saturday.

Last weekend, United went behind after just eight minutes when Byron Harrison tapped home after Ryan Clarke had denied Terry Gornell.

However, Clarke's long goal kick caused confusion in the Cheltenham defence and Kitson beat Scott Brown to the ball before firing in to an empty net for the equaliser.

Just after half-time, Cheltenham re-took the lead as Gornell took advantage of poor defending but Johnny Mullins proved to be Oxford's hero once again as he found the bottom corner from David Hunt's cross.

"I thought Dave Kitson was excellent," Wilder told the club, "I thought it was a proper performance.

"It's been a bit stop start for him with the injuries that he has had but I was pleased with his work rate late on. He chased the ball down, his goal was good, his link-up was good and he won everything in the air.

"It was a fantastic performance from him and hopefully we can build upon his performance and another result away from home."

Before the game, United were hit with injuries to captain Jake Wright (groin) and James Constable (chipped foot bone) and the pair are set to be out for up to six weeks.

Wilder said: "They are not just big blows to the players but they are blows to the group.

"But I thought the reaction was first class.

"It wasn't a great time to play them because they have not started the season well. We rolled in to town, we bring a load of punters, and they see that as no motivation needed and to kick-start their season and I've got to say they gave it a right go and we matched them."

Ahead of this weekend's top of the table clash against Chesterfield, Wilder added: "If you speak to every manager in the league they will say they are the team to beat.

"Whatever team they pick we are going to have to be at our best.

"We have to make sure that nobody comes in to our back garden and gets a result."

Sport Bites

Momentum

CHINNOR and Oxford Harlequins maintained their winning starts to the new season last weekend with comprehensive victories.

A bonus point 42-17 win over Dings Crusaders saw Chinnor rise to third in the SSE National League 2 South after two games.

While Harlequins made it two wins out of two with a 24-12 win at Witney in the South West 1 East.

Meanwhile, Henley Hawks could not build upon their opening day win over Tynedale as they were narrowly beaten 40-30 by Esher.

Hawks are seventh in the SSE National League 1 and face unbeaten Rosslyn Park at home this Saturday.

Chinnor travel to Shelford while Harlequins welcome Reading.

Five-star City

OXFORD City Stars continued their unbeaten start to their National Ice Hockey League South 2 campaign with another commanding win.

A 5-1 victory at Chelmsford Warriors saw the Stars open up a two-point lead over Wightlink Tigers at the top of the league.

Next up for Stars is an away trip to Peterborough Islanders this Saturday at 5pm.

Nomads lose as Town look to bounce back

DESPITE a midweek defeat to Thame United, Oxford City Nomads remain second in the Hellenic Premier Division ahead of this weekend.

Nomads were beaten 3-2 on Tuesday night as Chris Fontaine's side were unable to build upon their commanding 3-0 win over Wantage Town last Friday.

Goals from John Rixon, Zac McEachran and Ben Moses ended the Alfredians' unbeaten league record and saw Nomads leapfrog Gary Ackling's side in the table.

Nomads are four points behind league leaders Reading Town and will be hoping to close the gap as they host Ascot United.

Meanwhile, Wantage will be looking to get back to winning ways as they welcome Binfield to Alfredian Park.

Ackling's side were on a seven match winning streak in the Hellenic Premier Division before their 3-0 defeat to Nomads but have several games in hand over their nearest rivals.

Wantage have only played eight league games, three less than both Reading and Nomads, due to FA Cup and Floodlit Cup commitments.

Despite being knocked out by Didcot Town in the preliminary qualifying round of the FA Cup, Wantage will be encouraged by their 5-0 win over Reading in the previous round.

The Alfredians are currently four points behind Reading in the league table.

Misano test pleases Smith

A POSITIVE day of testing in San Marino on Monday ensured Bradley Smith will head into round 14 of the MotoGP championship in Aragon next weekend in a confident manner.

The 22-year-old Tech 3 rider finished a disappointing 11th in Misano but took to the track just a day later, completing 69 laps.

Although Smith was only 11th in the final timesheets, he was pleased with his progress after experimenting with a change in riding position.

He said after the test: "I believe we found a good direction.

"I changed the rider position and that definitely helped me.

"Maybe not so much on new tyres but definitely on worn tyres and with a full fuel load as well because more of my weight was over the rear."

Pond strikes to earn point

OXFORD City fought back from two goals down to earn a point at high-flying Altrincham last Saturday.

Mike Ford's men had their backs against the wall as James Walshaw and Simon Richman fired Altrincham, who were the Skrill Conference North leaders before last weekend, into a 2-0 lead.

However, City were given a lifeline when Scott Leather headed into his own net.

Ford's men shaded the second half and deservedly drew level as Darren Pond scored from the spot after Liam Malone was fouled by Gianluca Havern.

On Tuesday night, City drew 1-1 with Boston United.

They are currently second from bottom in the league table and have taken only four points from seven matches.

Plato back on the podium, but title hopes are fading

JASON Plato was unable to take advantage of his pole position at Rockingham for the eighth round of the British Touring Car Championship (BTCC) on Sunday.

The Oxford-based driver could only manage a best result of third over the weekend in the final race of the day, backed up with fifth and sixth-place finishes in race one and two.

Plato took pole comfortably on Saturday in dry conditions, but rain at the start of the first race hindered his chances, and he gradually fell back through the field to fifth.

He was sixth in race two, before charging back up the order to finish on the podium in the last race of the day for the first time since Snetterton at the start of August.

However Sunday's results mean that Plato's championship hopes are all but over, as he has a 62-point deficit to standings leader Andrew Jordan with just two rounds to go.

Plato has finished in the top-three of the standings every year since 2006, but he is currently fifth in the championship with 276 points, 29 behind third-placed Colin Turkington.

The penultimate round takes place at Silverstone on September 29, ahead of the championship finale at Brands Hatch on October 13.

U'S AND TOWN BEATEN AGAIN

Abingdon's teams' struggles go on with both sides still looking for first victory

Eddie fails to make the cut at KLM

EDDIE Pepperell missed the cut by just one shot at last weekend's KLM Open in Zandvoort in Holland.

The 22-year-old carded a one-over-par 71 for the first round but a 69 in the second was not enough to see Pepperell's place on the tee for the next day.

Dutchman Joost Luiten won the tournament by beating Spain's Miguel Angel Jiménez in a play-off.

Pepperell, the world no.225, is currently 76th in the Race To Dubai rankings and has earned €319,701 so far this calendar year.

ABINGDON'S two football teams are still finding life hard in the Hellenic Premier Division as they continue to prop up the bottom of the table.

Paul Noble's Abingdon United side were beaten for the tenth consecutive time on Tuesday night and stay rooted to the bottom as they were thumped 4-1 at home by Cheltenham Saracens.

While Abingdon Town were beaten 3-1 by Holyport to remain second from bottom on three points.

United will be looking to earn their first points of the season as they welcome Ardley United, who have not lost in the Hellenic Premier Division so far this season, to the Northcourt this Saturday.

Noble's side have conceded 33 goals in 10 matches so far this season and have only netted eight times.

Meanwhile, Shaun Smith's Town turn their attention to the FA Vase.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

They have a second round qualifying tie at home to Hook Norton before they welcome Brimscombe & Thrupp to Culham Road next Tuesday as they return to Hellenic Premier Division action.

United are also in action during the middle of next week as they make the trip to 12th placed Ascot United.

Both sides will hope that their first victories of the season are not too far away.

In fact, a win for United over Ardley this Saturday would see them leapfrog Town and lift them off the bottom of the table.

Meanwhile, Town are only a win away from potentially closing the gap to Kidlington and Newbury who lie 17th and 18th.

Battling U's draw at Robins

OXFORD United came back from behind on two occasions last weekend to maintain their unbeaten league record.

Dave Kitson (pictured) and Johnny Mullins were on target as United drew 2-2 with Cheltenham Town to remain second in League Two.
